

Dear Kirill Skobelev!

I'd like to thank Aventine, Ltd. for the excellent services performed during the lead-up to the enactment of the EAEU Technical Regulation 041/2017 "On safety of chemicals" – and I say it both on my behalf, and on behalf of our clients.

We've been successfully working together under the scope of the inventorying procedure, i.e. the process of gathering and submitting data about chemical substances to the Ministry of Industry and Trade of Russian Federation. This procedure is dedicated to preventing large expenses related to state registration of chemicals which contain so-called "new" substances, and in order to make sure our clients won't have such issues our experts have been and still are working in close cooperation with Aventine's experts, thoroughly examining our client's data and preparing extensive submissions.

In the period of four months (November, 2019 – February, 2020) we have gathered and submitted data on over several hundreds of substances for our clients, and the work still goes on, with more substances planned for submission.

I have visited the main office of Aventine in Moscow in October, 2019 in order to have the face-to-face discussions on this new requirement and to finalize the agreements specific to the inventorying procedure, followed by our cooperation agreement executed in summer, and received a very warm welcome from you and your employees. We were delighted to see you at our headquarters in January, 2020 and glad to have outlined plans for further cooperation as the preparation for the enactment of the TR 041/2017 goes on.

We are looking forward to expanding our business transactions together even further to the other services which you can offer, such as SDS development and state registration under the scope of various other EAEU Technical Regulations for our clients.

With best regards and hope for fruitful further collaboration,

Yuhta Chonan
